

Problem 1

Write an application creating a GUI which displays a panel with elements of graphics and text. Sliders allow to modify their color (red, green, blue components) and the background color.

The interface may look like the one below, but can be different as long as its functionality is preserved.

